To Our Generous Community:

Here's why your donations matter: Ramen, a sweet young Pomeranian, was surrendered after his owner couldn't afford emergency care to surgically remove a severely injured eye after suffering a dog bite. Beans, a tiny tabby kitten, was born with a life-threatening birth defect that impacted her bowel movements. Without urgent surgery, she wouldn't have survived. Because of your generosity, Beans and Ramen are both healthy and safe in their forever homes.

As this year closes, I find myself reflecting on the hundreds of animals HumaneCNY has had the honor of saving and am profoundly grateful to everyone who has supported our rescue efforts. Donors like you make our work possible, which is why it's heartbreaking to let you know that rising costs continue to strain our budget, forcing us to turn away animals in need. This summer's medical appeal was sent with urgency, in the hope that it would generate donations that would carry us through the end of the year. And while we're truly grateful for every donation received, the response hasn't yet covered the costs to help the animals in need of our care. Our fundraising activities have also included applying for many grants, but fierce competition for these limited funds means that many of our requests go unfunded, making donor support like yours the backbone of everything we do.

The success of our year-end fundraising will determine how many animals we can save in the new year. For years, we've steadily increased the number of animals we've saved. The sad truth is this: we cannot continue to use our savings to cover rising costs. Without your additional financial support, we won't be able to save as many lives.

You have the power to change that. Your donation is more than just appreciated – it is a lifeline. We need your help more than ever!

Ramen and Beans and the hundreds of dogs and cats we rescue every year are the lives your donations will save. As you consider your end-of-year giving, I urge you to please make a gift to help HumaneCNY continue this vital work. Your donation gives us hope. It gives second chances. It saves lives. Please donate today to allow HumaneCNY to save even more animals in 2026!
